

CIRM's Role in Advancing Stem Cell-Based Therapies

On March 23, 2017, the 2nd Annual Symposium of the CIRM Alpha Stem Cell Clinics Network highlighted the goals of the CIRM ASCC Network, focusing on what has been achieved to date, and discussed pathways toward commercialization and reimbursement of newly developed therapies. In this video, CIRM's CEO and President, C. Randall Mills, explains how the Agency is accelerating stem cell treatments to patients with unmet medical needs over the next few years. This video was filmed by the City of Hope.
